

Gaslights

- Gaslights add intimacy, charm, value, security and comfort to your home.
- Gaslights are available in a variety of styles with a variety of options, such as manual on/off switches.
- Gaslights require little maintenance.

Light Up Your Life with Gaslights

For illuminating your outdoor space with a warm glow that invites intimacy and adds charm, value, security and comfort to your home, there's no match for the gaslight. Whether encased in a reflective wind guard or open to the night air, the warm flames of natural gas lighting create environments meant to be celebrated and shared. They add the perfect finishing touch to your backyard or patio.

These high-quality natural gas lamps, torches and sconces can be mounted on the ceiling or wall, or stand alone in your yard or patio space. Both electronic and manual ignition is available in most styles. They are available with manual on/off switches, automatic timers or automatic light sensors to turn on lights at night and turn off lights during the day. And they will operate during a power outage unlike electric lights. To satisfy your style desires and needs, many attractive designs are available, from traditional to contemporary, in a wide variety of colors and finishes.

Light up your life with elegance and sophistication and see the difference natural gas powered lighting will make in your home.

Advantages of Gaslights:

- Light sensors, timers or on/off switches can reduce fuel use up to 50 percent over conventional 24-hour models.
- Gaslights don't attract insects like electric lights.
- Gaslights will operate even a during power outage, offering more security than electric lights.
- Gaslights don't create harsh shadows like electric floodlights.
- Gaslights require little maintenance.